VAIN WAIT FOR 'HOPEFUL SIGN'

Long Moscow Talks Fail To Bring Results

London, To-day.

Interested circles in London yesterday waited in vain for a "hopeful sign" from Moscow, where the pact negotiations were resumed at 6 p.m. It caused a great disappointment when in the late evening it became known that "Radio Moscow" had announced that no definite result had been achieved.

Official British comment was not expected until to-day.

JAPAN'S ERRORS IN CONDUCT OF CHINA WAR

London, To-day.

"The Times," in a leader on the forthcoming negotiations in Tokyo, reaffirms that only local questions connected with Tientsin can properly be made the subject of Anglo-Japanese talks.

Any attempt to raise a wider issue, like the general principles applying to European Concessions and Settlements in Chinese ports, would affect other Powers as well as Britain.

After enumerating evidences of Japanese non-success after two years of war, "The Times" says it is still uncertain whether the Japanese people have yet grasped the implications of their opponent's resolution.

HUNT FOR SCAPEGOATS

To the soldiers, whose miscalculations have been so costly, the foreigner is an obvious scapegoat; yet the real cause of the prolongation of the struggle can only be ascribed to psychological errors by the Japanese General Staff, who seem to be regarding the Chinese as a nation much as Napoleon and his armies and puppet governments united as hitherto divided and apathetic Germany in a national resolve to throw off foreign domination.

Lengthy Paris reports are carried by English news agencies on French annoyance at the endless delays of the Moscow negotiations. English papers no longer concealed their disappointment last week.

Secret negotiations are alleged to have taken place during the week-end in Paris, conducted on behalf of Britain by Lord Lothian, the newly-appointed British Ambassador to the United States.

It is understood that the French wish for immediate conclusion of the pact was the main topic.

Lord Lothian is reported to have met M. Lebrun, President of France, and Mr. William Bullitt, the American Ambassador, and to have been the guest of M. La Chambre, the French Air Commissioner, over the week-end.—Trans-Ocean.

DECISIVE IMPORTANCE

Paris, To-day.

The "Temps" reports that the Soviet Foreign Commissar, M. Molotov, and the British and French representatives in Moscow were to have another conference at 6 o'clock last evening.

Political quarters in Paris appear to attach a decisive importance to this conference.

Optimism now displayed in London is not shared in France, according to "Le Temps"—Trans-Ocean.

JAP. GARRISON RAIDED

Canton, To-day.

Lungkong about 35 miles to the south of Canton, halfway to the Sunwei District, was raided by two thousand armed Chinese the other day, according to information received here from very reliable sources.

It is stated that the Chinese looted the whole village, after they had engaged the small Japanese garrison, killing between 50 and 60 Japanese troops.

Japanese reinforcements were sent from Kowkong and the invading Chinese retreated.—Reuter.

TENSION GROWING IN CZECH CAPITAL

Orders By Germans Ignored

During the past few days conversations have taken place at the Reich Foreign Office between M. Chwalkowski, the Czech representative in Berlin, and prominent German Civil Servants regarding the situation in Prague.

Relations between the Czechs and the German authorities are daily becoming more strained, and instructions issued by the Reich officials are frequently ignored.

It is regarded as likely that M. Chwalkowski will shortly travel to Prague to review the situation with Baron von Neurath, Protector of Bohemia and Moravia.

It is rumoured in political circles in Berlin that M. Chwalkowski has threatened to resign. Rumours that Baron von Neurath has similarly spoken of resignation in a talk with Herr Hitler are generally discredited.

PRESS PROTESTS

The "National Zeitung" of Essen, which is closely connected with Field-Marshal Goering, criticises Czech newspaper comment on a recent speech at Budovice by Herr Frank, a former deputy-leader of the Sudeten German party, in which he advised the Czechs to turn a deaf ear to those of their countrymen who urged them to revolt.

The "Narodni Stred," formerly a Czech Socialist newspaper, states the "National Zeitung" protested in comment on the speech that "the contentment and healthy development of the Czech people are in the interests of the Reich."

The former Agrarian organ,

"Venkov," it is stated, took a similar line and, in the words of the German organ, "instead of emphasising German wishes, voices new Czech ones," protesting against the ban on meetings and demonstrations.

KOWLOON MAN BURNED IN BEACH MATSHED FIRE

Caused by the explosion of a spirit stove, fire destroyed matshed No. 66, on 12-mile beach, belonging to Mr. Edwin Alexander Atkins, at about four o'clock yesterday afternoon. The spirit stove exploded while preparations were being made for tea and set fire to the shed. Mr. Atkins' arm was burned and was treated at the Kowloon Hospital.

GANG BURNS MAN AT STAKE

Gangsters burned an unknown man at the stake on a hill overlooking New York.

They were experimenting with a new execution technique.

They bound their victim to the stake with radio wire, filled his pockets with matches, doused him with petrol and then set him on fire. The remains were found later, says a New York correspondent.

After examining the body doctors and detectives said the man was undoubtedly alive when bound to the stake.

REAL WAR NOW ON, SAYS SIGNOR GAYDA

ROME, TO-DAY.

A STRONG PLEA TO ITALIANS TO EXERCISE EXTREME CAUTION IN DEALING WITH FOREIGNERS IS PUBLISHED BY THE SEMI-OFFICIAL "GIORNALE D'ITALIA."

In view of "war preparations by the democracies" and the resulting necessity of national defence, the greatest care must be observed regarding military and economic secrets, it is stated.

Announcing that "in future" daily control of the Press, radio, newspapers, all public performances and all tourist traffic will be exercised, Signor Gayda, the editor, warns the population to be on guard against spies and informers and not to heed tendentious rumours designed to weaken the morale of the country.

WAR IN PROGRESS

It is not the thunder of artillery that begins a war, he declares, but war is already in progress in the form of mobilisation of all utilisable forces.

A "quick, decisive war" requires that all military secrets be carefully guarded.

Signor Gayda concludes by declaring that "since every activity in the sphere of national life is today of importance to warfare, silence and vigilance are the first duty of every citizen." — Trans-Ocean.

JAPAN HAS NOTHING TO CELEBRATE

Chungking, To-day.

A message from New York states that the New York "Herald Tribune," commenting on the second anniversary of the Sino-Japanese undeclared war, points out that there would seem to be nothing to celebrate from the standpoint of the Japanese military and the Japanese people. Apparently the military have been driven to extremes and are doing all they can to rally the support of the people.

The "Herald Tribune" states that the Japanese people are not

OVER 40,000 GUERILLAS KEEP JAPANESE ON THE HOP

SHANGHAI, TO-DAY.

ALMOST DAILY NOW, JAPANESE TROOPS IN HUNGJAO AND OTHER AREAS OCCUPIED BY THEM, ENGAGE IN SHORT SKIRMISHES WITH GUERILLAS, LARGE NUMBERS OF WHOM HAVE PENETRATED INTO AREAS SURROUNDING THE FRENCH CONCESSION AND THE INTERNATIONAL SETTLEMENT.

Whilst the exact number of guerillas in the vicinity is unknown, foreign military observers state that anywhere between 40,000 and 50,000 are stationed between here and Soochow.

Firing in Hungjao is heard every night and foreign residents out there are no longer alarmed at bursts of machine-gun fire and rifle shots.

They take these incidents as part of their daily life, whilst the Japanese invariably state that "manoeuvres" are being carried on in the district.

That this is not true, was substantiated when I found three rounds of Mauser ammunition which I subsequently showed to experts who said they were of the make used by the Chinese army.

FOREIGN LADY'S ADVENTURE

Besides, Mrs. G. V. Lumsdaine's experience on Fraser Road the other day, when her car was ordered to stop by 15 Japanese soldiers who were pursuing some guerillas in nearby fields and wanted to use the vehicle as a shield, also speaks for the activities of these irregulars.

It was at first reported that both her rear tyres were punctured by Japanese bullets, after the Nippon troops had told her to drive on, seeing that she was a foreigner, but subsequent investigations by the British military authorities revealed that the tyres had not been shot at. Nevertheless, the British lady had a narrow escape from death as about 20 bullets whistled past her ears as she stepped on the accelerator in order to seek the safety of the British military post at the Great Western Road railway bridge.

When I was out there last night, French and British troops on guard at various points south of the railway line, told me that they hear occasional shooting but that even the Chinese living out there at the present time, hardly pay any attention to these skirmishes in view of their clocklike regularity. — Our Own Correspondent.

NAZIS AIR STRATEGY

Defence League On Probable Terror Tactics

BIG LOSSES LONDON MIGHT FACE

A review of the probable strategy for an air attack on Great Britain is made by the Air Raid Defence League in the fourth of its A.R.P. reports, published under the title, "The Nature of the Air Threat."

The League believes that Germany's decision to build an armada of bombers has involved an initial outlay of some £250,000,000.

Of this some £80,000,000 was probably spent on 8,000 front-line and reserve planes, which must be renewed at least every three years.

Such expenditure, the League suggests, could have been undertaken only after profound deliberation on a new strategy. Involving the production of perhaps 2,400 bombers a month when war started, the German policy could not face prolonged hostilities.

Accordingly, it is concluded that the idea of "Blitzkrieg," or "lightning war," to achieve swift victory, is still uppermost in German military thought.

RAID BY 1,200 PLANES

The League calculates, "on the best information available," that at least 2,000 German first-line bombers would be available.

Deducting shorter-range bombers, designed to support military operations, it is suggested that arrangements could be made to concentrate a force of 1,200 to 1,500 planes to deliver the lightning blow.

This would not be launched in a single raid to "darken our skies with bombers." A force of three squadrons of nine machines each would, it is considered, be the largest that could be handled conveniently on a single raid, though for "frightfulness" purposes some raids might be bigger.

The early blow, the League believes, would be directed predominantly against the civil population, for the "Blitzkrieg" theory is based mainly on the shattering of civilian morale, and London would be the chief target.

Assuming that 1,200 planes were used and half got through, the League calculates that 700 tons of bombs would be dropped. If, in Britain's present state of preparedness, casualties are put at 50 per ton 35,000 would result from the first day's raiding. Of these, about one-third would be killed and two-thirds wounded. There might be 100,000 casualties within less than a week.

LOSSES DISREGARDED

In the mass attack the enemy would almost disregard losses; later on the strain on pilots morale and the need of machines on the fighting front would mean that tactics must be changed.

Criticising the Government's A.R.P. policy the report says "Gas masks have been distributed even to remote villages in Northern Ireland, and Cardiff has been listed for equal priority with London for air raid shelters. That is not defence as understood by strategists."

"What we require is not something for everybody, but a great deal for some of the people—that is, for those who are most likely to be attacked."

What every woman fears—to be seen in the same dress as another woman—happened to Marlene Dietrich early one morning.

Escorted by her husband, Rudolph Seiber, Joseph von Sternberg, the director who made her famous, and Erich Maria Remarque, the exiled German author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," she had attended the performance of "The Philadelphia Story," in which Katharine Hepburn plays the leading part. After the play the party went to the Monte Carlo, which at the moment is New York's most fashionable night club.

Miss Dietrich swept in looking neither to the right nor the left and sat down. Then Mrs. Dudley Roberts, Junior, caught her eye. They were both wearing striking white crept gowns with hoods. The gowns were identical.

Not long afterwards Miss Dietrich left, candidly remarking to Mr. Felix Ferry, the proprietor, "This has ruined my evening."

"WAR CRY"

"Our warcry is, 'Unless you give us our colonies back, and unless you give the German people the living space they need, there will be no peace on earth.'"

—Senator Von Allwoerden, regional leader of the Reich Colonial League, speaking at Hamburg.

SMALL CHANGE PROBLEM GROWS IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, To-day.

The small money situation is growing worse day by day, although the various establishments and concerns dealing essentially in small amounts, have issued their own tokens the most popular of which are in cardboard, whilst some of the amusement resorts have decided to print bank-notes of their own with English and Chinese wording.

The only concern having found it worth while to issue coin tokens, was the China General Omnibus. Two-cent tokens have been issued and apart from being a great help to passengers of the company's vehicles, they have found their way into the coolie class of restaurant where amounts payable by the diner, rarely exceed a few cents.

Japanese sen coins too, have made their appearance although, with the exception of ricksha coolies who are forced to accept them from Japanese passengers, when the latter have no Chinese currency, almost everyone refuses to take them in payment.

Postage stamps were very popular at the beginning of the shortage. The chit-system continues in the smaller restaurants where regular patrons are permitted to sign up to an amount which can be paid in legal tender.—Our Own Correspondent.

JAPAN'S CHALLENGE TO THE POWERS

MILAN, TO-DAY.

AN INTERVIEW WITH MR. HACHIRO ARITA, THE JAPANESE FOREIGN MINISTER BY THE TOKYO CORRESPONDENT OF THE "CORRIERE DELLA SERA" IS PUBLISHED BY THAT PAPER.

Mr. Arita declared that Japan is determined to establish the "new order in the Far-East" and firmly resolved to oppose with all means at her disposal the activities of Third Powers which might obstruct the carrying out of this policy.

He continued that Japan was inspired solely by the wish to restore stability and prosperity in the Far East.

Japan was convinced that this programme could not be realised so long as China remained in a "semi-colonial" condition which certain Western Powers wanted to maintain.

REGRETTABLE INCIDENTS

Recent regrettable incidents at Tientsin, like previous incidents of a similar nature elsewhere, were—according to the Japanese Foreign Minister—attributable to the fact that the foreign concessions were "hot-beds of anti-Japanese agitation and terrorism."

Regarding the raising of the blockade of the Tientsin concession, Mr. Arita said that it would depend entirely on the development of the situation. He recalled the declaration of Prince Konoye, the former Premier, that Japan respected the integrity of China.

Mr. Arita stressed, in this connection, that the Japanese Government was seriously considering the abolition of extraterritoriality there.—Trans-Ocean.

CHARTERED BANK SUES GODOWN COMPANY

THAT HIS LORDSHIP HAD TO DECIDE WHICH OF TWO INNOCENT PARTIES WAS TO SUFFER FOR A GUILTY THIRD, WAS A STATEMENT MADE BY THE HON. MR. LEO D'ALMADA, JUN., WHEN HE APPEARED THIS MORNING ON BEHALF OF THE CHARTERED BANK IN A CLAIM FOR WRONGFUL CONVERSION OR BREACH OF CONTRACT IN CONNECTION WITH 31 PACKAGES OF CARGO STORED IN THE HONG KONG AND KOWLOON WHARF AND GODOWN CO., LTD.

Mr. D'Almada was instructed by Mr. R. A. Wadson, of Johnson, Stokes and Master, while Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., instructed by Mr. M. M. Watson was for the defendants, The Hong Kong Wharf and Godown Co., Ltd. Another action in which Holt's Wharf were defendants was heard in conjunction with the case.

At the outset, Mr. d'Almada said that the two actions could be taken together as the facts were the same, to which Mr. Potter agreed, saying that the only difference was in the figures of each case.

Mr. d'Almada said that certain facts had been agreed and went over the points agreed. Between November 3, 1936 and September 1937, defendants received 31 packages of cargo valued at $19,388 for storage in their godowns at Tsimsatui.

Plaintiffs had, from time to time, advanced money to concerns in England against Bills of Exchange drawn on and accepted by Messrs. Thorbor and Co. These bills, in every case, had been accepted by Messrs. Thorbor and Co. in payment of piece goods ordered by them from firms in England.

Upon arrival of each shipment, bills of lading were sent to the Bank and the draft drawn on Messrs. Thorbor and Co. accepted by them. The Bills of Lading and bills were endorsed to the order of the plaintiffs.

FORGED ORDERS

When Thorbor's accepted the Bills they handed the bills of lading, endorsed by consignors to the order of the Plaintiffs and the goods stored in godowns.

On March 29, defendants received instruction from plaintiffs to forward goods covered by a godown warrant to Manila and plaintiffs were advised that these goods had been delivered already against delivery orders duly countersigned by them.

These delivery orders were inspected by an official of the plaintiffs and as a result, U. Chan Jong, the principal of Messrs. Thorbor and Co. was brought to plaintiffs' office and, after investigation, admitted that he had obtained delivery of the 31 packages from defendants against delivery orders forged or altered by him.

The method adopted by the said U Chan Jong was that after receipt of a delivery order duly stamped and signed by plaintiffs he altered the figures and amended the particulars and then presented the altered document to the defendant firm for delivery.

In each instance in the present case, U Chan Jong altered the figures in the delivery order by typewriter and made what erasures were necessary.

On or about March 1937, plaintiffs had five godown warrants covering the goods and they were carried with them when they were stamped and endorsed any delivery order. All the same contain any mention of any of the said packages.

PRINCIPAL SENTENCED

Defendants, on presentation of the said forged delivery orders and in the belief that they were authorised to do so by the said endorsements, delivered the packages to Messrs. Thorbor and Co.

The fraudulent alterations and amendments were made without the knowledge or consent of the parties.

Criminal proceedings were instituted against U. Chan Jong and a sentence of four years hard was imposed on him at the Criminal sessions in May 1938.

Further agreed facts were that all instructions by plaintiffs to the defendants in connection with the storage and release of the said goods were given in writing by means of a rubber stamp impressed on a godown warrant and signed by an official of the bank.

Each of the said 31 packages exceeded the value of $500 and in no case was such value declared on application for storage.

OPPOSING CASES

Mr. d'Almada said that the plaintiffs' case was that by terms of the Godown warrant the goods were to be delivered only on signature of the parties entitled to the goods and in this case the goods were delivered on a forged delivery order or a delivery order which was subsequently found to be forged and that they were not delivery orders signed by parties entitled to the goods.

By delivering the goods under these conditions the defendants had broken their contract.

The defence, Mr. Almada continued would be that they were not liable in that plaintiffs did not disclose the value of goods over $500 as stated in the Godown warrant; that Messrs. Thorbor and Co. were authorised as the plaintiffs' agents to obtain the goods, or take delivery of same; Messrs. Thorbor, acting within this authority, had obtained delivery and action by plaintiff was stopped.

The case is proceeding.

BISHOP JOHN HIND IN FOOCHOW

The "amusement" connected with the message carried by a Hong Kong newspaper from the Rt. Rev. John Hind, Bishop of Fookien, last week as a result of the subsequent suggestion that the Rt. Rev. John Hind was in Fookow a year ago, has taken on a new form for it was definitely established this morning that the Bishop is still in Fookow.

It was supposed that there had been a confusion over names and that the Bishop was actually sent by the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Fookien to Fookow. It is obvious that the Bishop's report was quite correct.

FENG YU-HSIANG VIEWS WAR SITUATION WITH HIGH OPTIMISM

Chungking, To-day.

Japan may have better military equipment and her air-force may be superior to China's, but greater underlying principles are involved than mere military equipment and therefore we may soon expect a basic change in the situation, states General Feng Yu-hsiang, Vice-Chairman of the Military Affairs Commission, who is second only to General Chiang Kai-shek as a Chinese Military leader.

This statement was made by General Feng, who is also known as the "Christian General," in an exclusive interview granted to Herr Hans Melchers, Trans-Ocean's general manager for China, who recently passed through Hong Kong from Shanghai.

China is still training her armies and re-organizing her resources, he said, but the time will soon come for a great counter-thrust, and important developments may then be expected.

Indications pointing the way which these developments will take are given by recent Japanese reversals in north-western Hupeh, where in the Tsaoyang-Hsiyang-Tangho area, the Japanese advanced considerably from their base but were then forced back no less than 250 kilometres, losing some 20,000 men, as well as large quantities of equipment.

SHANSI LOSSES

Another pointer towards the future was given in Shansi Province, in the Chungtiaoshang triangular area, where Japanese forces have so far attacked nine times without success, resulting in from 500 to 1,500 corpses being transported daily along the Paotingfu railway.

As regards future developments, General Feng Yu-hsiang added that the Chinese authorities had received reliable information from Japan that some 5,000 intellectuals of the highest classes have been rigorously cross-examined, nearly 400 being subsequently imprisoned for having expressed the conviction that the war should be ended immediately.

JAPANESE TIRED OF WAR

There were also other indications that the Japanese people were tired of war, this applying not only to the civilian population but also to the military forces, including high officers.

As regards the Japanese forces, it is reported from various points that Japanese soldiers have been fraternizing to a large degree with the Chinese population, many Japanese soldiers swearing blood brotherhood with aged Chinese, ceremoniously drawing the sign of death with a circle around it, which denotes that they will die in China and do not wish to return to Japan.

NEW ARMIES

General Feng, who is in charge of Chinese military training, declared that the whole of China's military forces was receiving exhaustive military training.

Special key-units had been formed and distributed among other units in order to create the same standard throughout the army. All training was being done only by Chinese officers.

Sufficient equipment was available.

Asked which of the Chinese troops he considered to be the best, General Feng replied they were those from the Ichang district in Hupeh province, as well as those from Szechuen, Hunan, Kwangsi, Kwangtung and Kweichow provinces, who all showed an exceptionally high efficiency and fighting spirit.

CHANGES COMING

Concluding, the veteran Chinese General, who is one of the most popular and acclaimed of the Chinese leaders, declared that one could rest assured that the time was not far off when great changes were coming and China would reassert her sovereignty, so that all sacrifices would not have been in vain.

The Chinese people were confident of this and therefore were willing of this and therefore were confident of the end of the present conflict.—Trans-Ocean.

AIRCRAFT AS CONVOYS IN EVENT OF WAR

London, To-day.

Writing in the "Daily Telegraph," Mr. Hector Bywater, the naval correspondent of the paper, says that elaborate plans have been prepared by the Admiralty for convoying merchant shipping in the event of war.

The convoy system would come into operation immediately on the outbreak of hostilities and aircraft would play a more important part than ever before.

Aircraft carriers would co-operate with escort vessels in protection of convoys.

The carriers would be stationed along the main ocean routes. Within the narrow seas, aircraft protection would be provided from base ships. — Daily Mail.

BULGARIAN PREMIER BEGINNING DISCUSSIONS WITH BELGRADE LEADERS

Belgrade, To-day.

M. Geordi Kjosseivanoff, the Bulgarian Premier and Foreign Minister, arrived at the Yugoslav spa of Bled at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon from a five-day visit to the Reich. He is to continue conversations with M. Cincar Markovitch, the Yugoslav Foreign Minister.

These began when M. Kjosseivanoff passed through Yugoslavia on his way to Berlin and are intended to bring about a co-ordination in the foreign policy of the two countries.

The Bulgarian Premier briefly informed his Yugoslav colleague of the outcome of his Berlin conversations, which are reported to have resulted in a consolidation of the traditional friendship between Bulgaria and the Reich, and which once more announced to the world Bulgaria's demands for territorial revision.

The Bulgarian Premier will be received by Prince-Regent Paul of Yugoslavia, who arrived at his summer residence near Bled some time ago.

GERMAN'S DEPARTURE

The Prince-Regent has just received Lieutenant-General von Faber du Faure, German military attaché in Belgrade, for a farewell visit. General von Faber due Faure is relinquishing his post of military attaché to the German Legation in Belgrade to take over the command of a division of the German Army.

The Yugoslav papers yesterday stressed that one of the chief questions to be discussed by the two Foreign Ministers at Bled is the question of co-operation between Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

CONFEDERATION!

The papers, however, refrain from referring to a question which is watched with special attention by foreign observers at the present moment—the "Greater Yugoslavia Movement," which has among its supporters certain circles in Bulgaria who believe the a Yugoslav-Bulgar confederation would be an ideal solution of the Southern Slav question.—Trans-Ocean.

OPEN AIR PORK BUTCHERY

Before Mr. T. J. Houston at the Central Magistracy this morning, three shop foks and two women were charged with dressing pig carcasses on a piece of vacant ground near the Kennedy Town Slaughter House, not being an appointed slaughter house.

Sanitary Inspector S. G. Poole, said he took a party of coolies, and raided the spot. He found a number of persons cutting up carcasses. Lai Kwau, 28; Kwok Wu, 28, and Yeung Fuk, 36, who described themselves as shop foks, were fined $50 or six weeks' hard labour. Pui Wong, 54, widow, was fined $5 or 14 days, and Lau Say, 35, married woman, was fined $10 or three weeks' hard labour.

The Reverend Mr. Childs, residing at No. 3, Jordan Road, has reported the theft of money and jewellery to the value of $155.

REVOLVER FOUND NEAR MURDER SCENE

THE POLICE THIS MORNING PICKED UP A .38-CALIBRE REVOLVER NEAR THE OLD KOWLOON POLICE COURT, SOME 300 YARDS FROM THE SPOT WHERE WONG WIN-SHUN, EDITOR OF A LOCAL CHINESE NEWSPAPER, WAS SHOT DEAD LAST NIGHT.

The revolver is thought to be connected with the murder, and has now been turned over to the Ballistics Department of the C.I.D. for examination.

No arrests have yet been made in connection with the shooting, which occurred shortly after 9.30 o'clock last night.

The shooting was extraordinarily similar to the terrorist crimes in Shanghai not so long ago. Wong was riding in a ricksha when a man rushed up and fired at point-blank range in the region of the heart. The murderer escaped in the subsequent confusion.

SERIOUS LORRY ACCIDENTS

Following accidents in Kowloon City yesterday, two motor lorry drivers this morning appeared before Mr. E. Himsforth at Kowloon charged with driving without due care and caution.

The first accident took place near Boundary Street, when lorry No. 4904, driven by Lin Chuen, went in reverse about 30 feet and knocked down a 10-year-old boy. He was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital where he is still detained. Lin was fined $20.

A hawker was the victim of the second accident, in Prince Edward Road, at 11.35 a.m. when Chan Chun-wan, the driver of lorry No. 3947, failed to apply both brakes, which the police alleged were inefficient, and knocked down the hawker. A fine of $50 was imposed.

The condition of both victims is said to be serious.

Mr. William Allen, of No. 215, Wanchai Road, has informed the police that he lost a gold pocket watch valued at $20 between 12.40 p.m. yesterday and 1.30 p.m. on a tram route from East Point to Tin Lok Lane.

BRITAIN TO AID POLAND WITHOUT RESERVATION

Mr. Chamberlain's Coming Statement On Danzig

No Attempt Made To Press Poland To Concessions

London, To-day.

Mr. Chamberlain is expected to make his statement on Danzig to-day, though developments may give rise to further delay.

It is revealed that the text of the statement, which covers Polish-German relations historically for the last ten years, was submitted to Warsaw for approval, and that certain alterations have been made.

The alterations do not, however, affect the main theme of the statement as approved at last Wednesday's Cabinet meeting, and it constitutes a very plain warning that any attempt to alter the status of Danzig which Poland regards as threatening her independence or sovereign rights will bring Britain's aid without reservation.

Speculation concerning negotiations for an amicable settlement between Germany and Poland has evaporated following a categorical statement by the Foreign Office that no representations of any kind had been made to the Polish Government to persuade them to enter into discussions.

"POLES MUST VANISH FROM DANZIG"

Danzig, To-day.

Cries of "The Poles must vanish from Danzig" were raised by a large crowd addressed by Herr Foerster, Nazi leader, whose sarcastic reference to "Good Neighbour" Poland drew derisive laughter and jeers.

Herr Foerster declared that the will of the people of Danzig to return to the Reich was stronger than ever.

He referred to the Corridor as the victim of "The Versailles Fraud" amid the loud jeers of the crowd, and concluded with the assurance that Danzig would return to the Reich "some day."

But his address left the impression that it was a much less urgent matter than it was a fortnight ago.

HATE STUFF

There was a slight incident when Reuter's Correspondent was seen taking notes. A Storm Trooper approached and questioned him.

When told the correspondent represented the English Press, the Storm Trooper reported: "English Press! Lie Press! Tell the truth this time! None of your hate stuff!" — Reuter.

POLES ONLY GUESTS

Herr Forster, discussing Danzig's relations with Poland, declared that Danzigers had the right to demand that Danzig should again become a part of the Reich.

Danzigers believed they would be far better off as citizens of the Reich, but they would demand the Anschluss even if they were certain that their material position would not be improved by Anschluss.

It did not matter what the small Polish minority in Danzig thought, said Herr Forster, since the Poles did not show any consideration for the wishes of the Germans living in Poland. Danzig Poles should remain completely quiet. They were only guests in Danzig, and their word had no weight.

MUNITION DEPOT

In an address at the port of Neufahrwasser, Herr Forster demanded the removal of the Polish ammunition depot. He declared that since Poland had now built a port of her own at Gdynia, it was absurd that Poland should be allowed to maintain an ammunition depot at Danzig, while the Danzigers themselves were not allowed to do so.

Completely unjustified Polish privileges had created an intolerable situation, Danzig, said Herr Forster, is to-day more German than ever before and various factors guaranteed that Danzig and its German citizens could not be made the victims of an unprovoked aggression from any side.

The Fuehrer had declared through Dr. Goebbels that eighty million Germans of the Greater Reich would stand behind Danzig as one man if the necessity arises.

The German army, the best army of the world, stands behind Danzig. All Danzigers who are capable of bearing arms are prepared to defend their native city.

TANK TRAPS

Herr Forster referred to military measures taken by Poland on the frontiers of Danzig. He said it appeared rather comical to con-

DICTATORSHIP IN SYRIA

Beirut, To-day.

The French Government has given the French High Commissioner in Syria dictatorial power.

A decree issued by the High Commissioner, M. Gabriel Puyaux, suspends, for the time being, those articles of the Syrian constitution which refer to the guaranteed executive and legislative rights of the Syrians.

The decree, moreover, orders the dissolution of the Syrian Parliament and declares that the elections for new Parliament will not be held for the time being.

M. Puyaux has delegated executive powers to a directorium, composed of the Directors of various Government departments and headed by the Director of the Domestic Affairs Department.—Trans-Ocean.

SIR NEVILLE TO RETIRE?

London, To-day.

The British Ambassador to Germany, Sir Neville Henderson, left London for Berlin yesterday afternoon.

Informed quarters declare that Sir Neville will remain at Berlin only for a short time. He will soon retire from the diplomatic service for reasons of health.

It is not known who will be Sir Neville's successor at the Berlin Embassy.—Trans-Ocean.

struct tank traps and trenches on the frontier of Danzig since only completely childish people could believe that little Danzig would attack the Polish state.

If anyone had reason to build trenches and prepare barbed wire entanglements, this would be the Danzigers who were threatened by Polish Chauvinism.

The Danzigers, however, had complete confidence in the Fuehrer, the German Army and their own ability to maintain order, so that they could afford to wait calmly for the day when the Fuehrer gave the order for Danzig's return to the Reich.—Trans-Ocean.

ANGLO-POLISH TALKS

London, To-day.

The Polish Ambassador, who arrived from Warsaw by air yesterday, will probably be received by Lord Halifax, the Foreign Secretary, to-day.

The Polish financial delegate also returned on Sunday by plane from Warsaw and it is expected that the suspended Anglo-Polish loan negotiations will be resumed within the next few days.—Trans-Ocean.

BAULKED BY A FLUKE AND FIVE MINUTES

Lo Hei, 32, unemployed, was charged before Mr. R. A. D. Forrest this morning, with attempting to obtain $500 Chan Ching, accountant, at No. 11 King Kwong Street yesterday.

Det. Sergt. T. Cashman said, that on July 8, Chang Ching received a letter, purporting to be from a friend, Koo Yun-chow, asking him to give $500 to a man who would call at his residence, and would produce half a piece of paper.

Lo went to the house in King Kwong Street, at about 9 p.m. the same day, but Chan Ching was not in.

Yesterday, defendant again turned up, and produced half a piece of paper, and asked for the money. As Chan was about to hand over the money, the friend Koo arrived, and defendant was arrested.

Defendant was sentenced to three months' hard labour, and recommended for banishment.

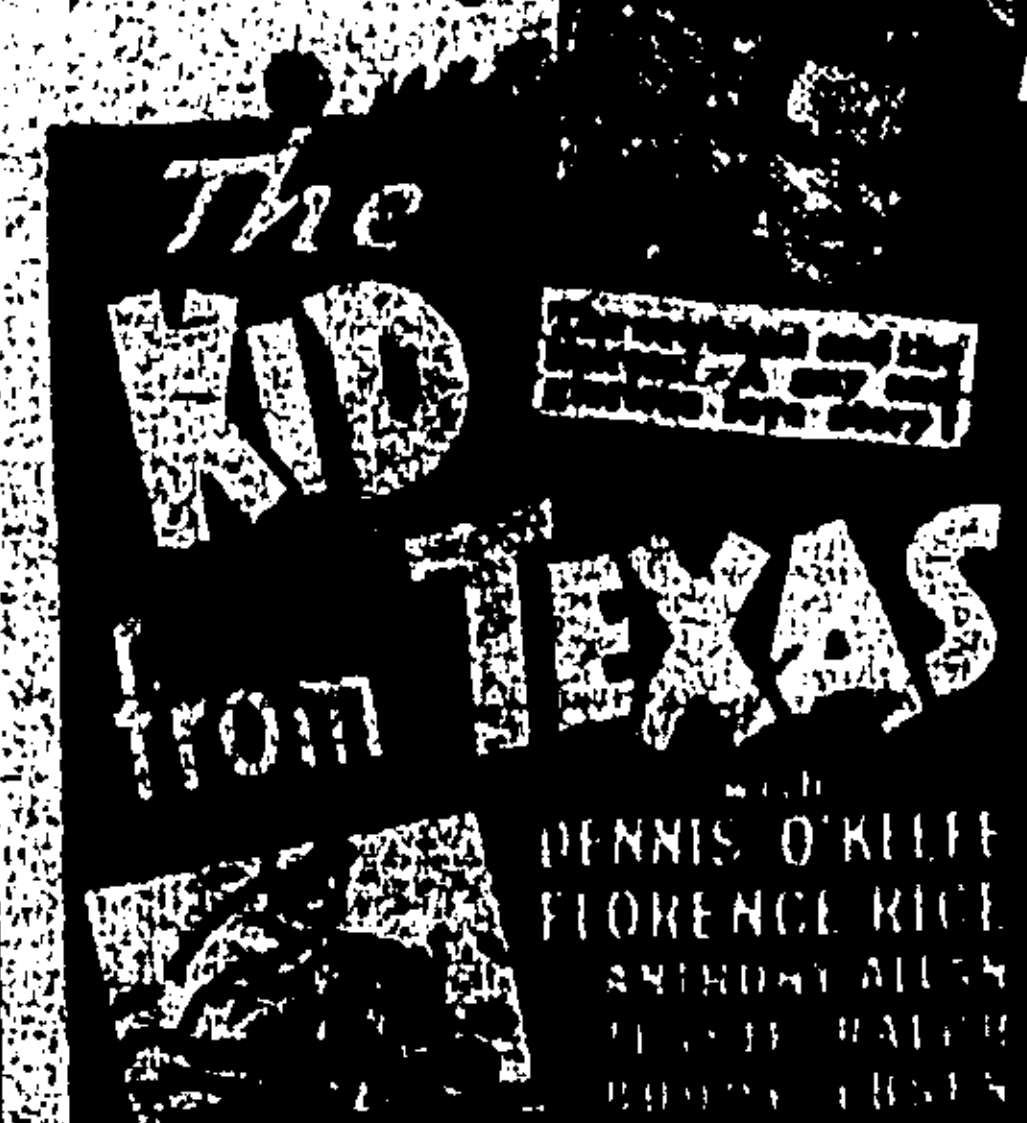

TAKEN IN

A 25-year-old spinster, Wong King, was bound over by Mr. T. J. Houston this morning, when charged with trespassing at Stanley Barracks.

Defendant, with two soldiers, was stopped by guards 300 yards inside the main gate.

Defendant pointed out that she was taken into the barracks by the two soldiers.

SECRET I.R.A. PLANS SEIZED BY POLICE

London, To-day.

Important documents covering a plan of campaign of the Irish extremists in England have fallen into the hands of the police here, according to Saturday's "Evening Standard," which states that a man from Dublin whose name and address was known to the police had been watched for a fortnight.

The individual in question, who served as a courier for the Irish Republican Army, was followed to Glasgow, Manchester, Birmingham and London but succeeded in escaping arrest.

It is surmised that he has returned to Ireland.

In one of the lodgings he occupied, detectives found various documents, including two new plans for bomb outrages in London and the provinces. These documents have been communicated to Sir Samuel Hoare, the Home Secretary. — Trans-Ocean.

FRANCE URGED TO GIVE UP MANDATES

Berlin, July 2.

France sacrificed some of her overseas territory in the interests of peace when she gave Turkey the Sanjak of Alexandretta. She should do more, and should return former German colonies to the Reich, Herr Joseph Buerckel, peasant's son and Reich's Commissioner in Austria, declared in a speech at Kaiserslautern to-day.

"France made a sacrifice for peace," he told a gathering of Western German political leaders, "in giving Turkey some territory so that Ankara should enter into the 'peace front.' France therefore renounced land to serve the cause of peace.

"If France is really so generous, she should make another sacrifice and give up what she now unjustly holds.—The German colonies. We would like to be neighbours who would want to live together, and not shed their blood in battle so that yet another bloody chapter might be inscribed in the history books of Albion." Herr Buerckel concluded.—Havas.

TURKISH PEACE PRINCIPLES NOT MODIFIED

Ankara, To-day.

M. Sarajoglu, the Turkish Foreign Minister, who yesterday announced that a treaty providing for Anglo-Turkish co-operation in all spheres was in the course of preparation, declared to-day that Turkey's adherence to the Peace Front had not modified in the least the peace principles of Turkey, which had decided to maintain normal relations with all states, including Germany and Italy.

Speaking of Anglo-Turkish and Franco-Turkish declarations, M. Sarajoglu said that the unity of viewpoints and interests created by political events consolidated ties between the three countries.

He emphasized that Turkey's friendship with Soviet Russia "preserved all its initial warmth."

The recent visit of M. Potemkin to Ankara had reinforced Russo-Turkish bonds.

He added that the Balkan Entente would "continue to serve the cause of peace with the same strength as before."

He concluded by saying that Turkey had unlimited confidence in her heroic army.

After unanimously approving the policy of the Government, the Assembly adjourned until the autumn. — Reuter.

HEAVY FIGHTING IN SHANSI

Loyang, To-day.

Fierce fighting is raging at Tsinshui, in south Shansi.

Japanese commenced an attack on the town last Friday. The force was later increased to 8,000, supported by artillery and planes.

The Chinese continue to hold their ground in the western outskirts.

WARSAW, TO-DAY.

KING ZOG OF ALBANIA, WHO ARRIVED HERE ON FRIDAY, HAS TAKEN 16 ROOMS IN THE HOTEL EUROPA FOR HIMSELF AND SUITE.

A programme of visits in Warsaw is being prepared with the assistance of Councillor Meyztow of the Polish Foreign Ministry.

King Zog and his family spent Saturday inspecting various sights of interest in the city.

It is reported that he is learning English.

Members of his suite, and his personal guard are taking extreme precautions to prevent his being molested. — Trans-Ocean.

U.S. MOTOR PIONEER BANKRUPT

Mr. Vincent Bendix, president of the Bendix Aviation Corporation and a pioneer of the motor-car industry, was declared bankrupt on a petition by Chicago holders of bond issues.

They contended that his liabilities exceeded $600,000, and that his assets were less than $100,000. Their action does not involve the Bendix Corporation.

Mr. Bendix recently stated that more than 10 years ago he personally guaranteed large issues on his Chicago real estate. Other guarantors, he added, who might have shared responsibility had been unable to do so, leaving him to meet the obligations practically alone.

BRITON ON ATTEMPTED SUICIDE CHARGE

Reginald Wilfrid Skinner, 31, described as an unemployed seaman, a native of Brentford, Middlesex, residing at No. 61, Gloucester Road, first floor, was charged at the Central Police Court this morning with attempted suicide on June 30.

Defendant, who is alleged to have attempted to cut his throat, said he was drunk at the time and did not know what he was doing.

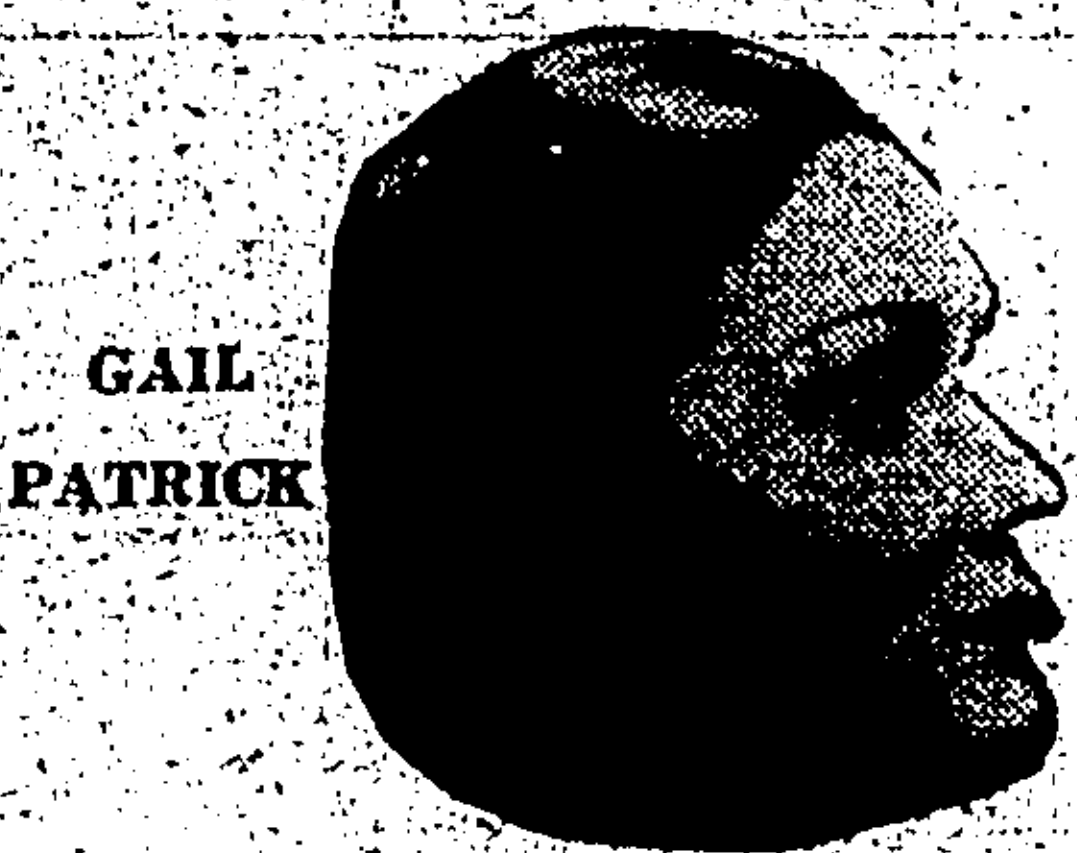

Det. Sergt. Cashman asked for a week's remand. Although defendant had means, he said, the authorities were considering sending him back to England.

Skinner said that most probably the Rev. Charles Strong would guarantee him.

EUROPE'S DEFENSIVE FRONT

It is given on the authority of Mr. Winston Churchill that a high functionary in Berlin once said to Reichsfuhrer Hitler:
"You will know that Britain is in earnest on the day that the British working-class accept conscription and the Conservative party agree to an alliance with Russia." The assurance must have seemed as safe as the promise of Macbeth in the witches' cavern:

Fear not, till Birnam wood

Do come to Dunsinane.

The seemingly impossible has happened. The Conservative Party, forsaking its time-honoured role, pressed Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the Prime Minister, to seek alliance with Russia.
And the working class, in spite of the formal protest of the leaders of the Labour Party and the Trades Union Congress, will take no action against conscription. The latter body decided that it would not take industrial action against it, and at the same time, undertook to pursue cooperation with the Government in voluntary national service.

Continental developments have united Great Britain, which has never been united since the World War. Until recently foreign policy for some years afforded the main bone of contention between the British Government and the Opposition and between the Cabinet and some leading Conservatives. But latterly the differences have disappeared as if by magic. The Government's guarantees to Poland, Rumania and Greece have been welcomed in every political quarter. There has been nothing but praise for the new agreement with Turkey, and for the policy of building up a peace front and extending it to eastern Europe.

A year ago there was fear that Europe might head for disaster through uncertainty about Britain's intentions — as in 1914.
But the guarantees which the British Government has given against aggression are absolute, and the support given by the Opposition shows that no change of Government would endanger them. The strenuous and unparalleled preparations for defence show that at last Britain has the means as well as the will to defend the defensive front which it is building up. The Chamberlain Government's previous policies of appeasement may remain in the memory of cautious statesmen in some other countries, as the difficulties between Britain and Russia have indicated in the last few weeks.
But so long as Britain does nothing to revive doubts as to its intentions of standing firm, the effectiveness of the defensive bloc sponsored by London and Paris should steadily increase.

Self-Discipline vs. Dictatorship

Britain, France and other de-mocracies in Europe are now strongly fortifying themselves against the menace of war, and the dictators can no longer hope for easy conquests. But if the latter have ceased to be dominant in the military sense, have they scored success in another direction by compelling their rivals to adopt some of their methods — to imitate their totalitarianism,
to yield some of their liberty?

Even Great Britain is putting itself under constraints in the effort to organise the military and social machinery of war. Departments of State are tempted to use all the influence they can to restrain hasty criticism in the press. Young men are compelled to accept military training.
Trade unionists have agreed to suspend certain trade union rights. Industrialists are forced to accept conditions affecting priority of supplies and profits.

The country, it may be said, is being subjected to regimentation.
The necessity presents a danger which Lord Baldwin clearly recognised in the remarkable lectures he gave at Toronto. Can democracies, he asked, resist tyranny without themselves becoming enslaved?

They can only do so, he insisted, if "the spiritual effort they put forth is greater than and in control of their material effort."
Solidarity, there must be, if the struggle is to succeed — not the "mechanical solidarity" of the herd driven by a dictator, but the "moralised solidarity" of the group directed by a chosen and not irreplaceable leader.

BERLIN EXPRESS WRECK ATTEMPT

Storm Clouds Again Gather Over Danzig

Germany Mans Slovakian Border

LONDON, TO-DAY.

STORM CLOUDS ARE AGAIN GATHERING THICKLY OVER DANZIG AND THE ATMOSPHERE IS ONCE MORE EXTREMELY TENSE.

German military activity in the Danzig area has been followed by the arrival of German military reinforcements along the former Czech-Polish frontier according to reports from Teschen.

These reports state that barbed wire entanglements are being erected, from twenty to forty yards deep, about two hundred yards from the frontier.

The situation has been aggravated by a series of incidents, including an attempt to wreck the Koenigsberg-Berlin express, an attempt described by Polish quarters as the work of agents-provocateur and by Germans as another outrage against Germany.

The Polish press, which gives prominence to the Teschen news of German reinforcements along the Slovakian border and the erection of deep defence lines, also reports two incidents from Danzig.

A Polish railwayman is alleged to have been attacked and beaten by four uniformed Nazis near Schoenwarling. The man was rescued by fellow railwaymen.

The second incident is apparently connected with the arming of Danzig. The Gestapo in Danzig is reported to have arrested and sent to a German concentration camp twelve workmen from the Schichau Wharf where arms were landed recently.

GERMAN DEAD

It is also revealed, by Reuter's Danzig correspondent, that a German was shot dead while attempting to escape from a Polish police officer who was trying to arrest him in Starograd, on the Polish side of the frontier.

The police officer has been arrested, pending the investigation. The attempt to wreck the Koenigsberg-Berlin express caused much excitement.

LONELY STRETCH

The attempt occurred on a lonely stretch of track outside Tschoff. Boulders were placed on the permanent way and only a quick-witted guard saved the train.

The Poles describe the attempt as German provocation, while the Germans declare it to be another outrage against Germany.

Herr Goerger, during his speech yesterday, made the first public reference to the "Free Corps," when he said:

"Thinking is strong. Danzig men know how to use rifles and are ready when called upon to do so." — Reuter.

NOTED GERMAN AIRMAN IN FATAL CRASH

Brussels, To-day.

Captain Wille, noted German airmen, crashed yesterday afternoon and was fatally injured while giving a flying display before a hundred thousand spectators.

King Leopold was among those who witnessed the tragedy.

Nine German planes were engaged in a display of aerobatics. Captain Wille took a Buecker Jungmeister machine into a roll and without warning it dived to the ground.

Britain was represented at the air display by nine Vickers Wellington bombers and one Hawker Hurricane fighter. They gave a display of formation flying.

Several other countries participated. — Reuter.

WE NEED MORE PLAYING FIELDS

Britain badly needs more playing fields. The National Fitness Council's review, just published, reveals a shocking state of affairs.

Take one typical county. In the various districts and towns the ratio of population to pitches varies between 5,500 to 14,000 for each cricket pitch; 900 to 4,800 for football, and 2,600, to 15,700 for hockey.

LIFE SAVING FILM FOR H.K.

(Special to "China Mail")

Great interest is being taken in the "Life Saving Film," which, through the efforts of Sub-Inspector R. J. Hunt, local representative of the Royal Life Saving Society, will shortly be available to swimming enthusiasts.

Arrangements have already been made by different schools in the Colony to have the film shown to some 2,000 students.

The local branch of the R. L. S. S. has been very active recently and 21 students of St. Stephen's Boys' College at Stanley have passed examinations with exceptionally high results.

The examinations were conducted by Sub-Inspector R. J. Hunt and Sergeant Bower, local examiner, at Stanley, the first on July 1 and the second on Thursday last.

The examination of the Award of Merit Class (Silver Medal) resulted in a very high standard of efficiency, the following four students satisfactorily passing all tests:

Henry Yeo (Bar to Award of Merit);
Tan Tjong-siong (Award of Merit);
Howe Soo-kee (Award of Merit);
and Thung Liong-hoe (Award of Merit).

Seventeen students took part in the examination for the Intermediate and Bronze Medallion and all passed with creditable results. They were:

Cheung Wing-lok, Lou Ha-wai, Lung Li-lin, Chang Liong-hai, Tsai Teh-bai, Chang Cheng-siong, Then Han-hoi, Han Tam-yuan, Kelvin Thomas, Liu Shee-ai, Kong Choyee, Ip Ting-yu, Chang On, Mak Soek-ngi, Low Cheng-how, Henry Corra and Athol Fong.

Both classes were coached by Mr. J. Gaunt, of St. Stephen's Boys' College.

It is understood that a number of girls, under training by Mrs. Read, and a class of Police, will shortly take examinations.

Sub-Inspector Hunt told the "Herald" yesterday that "Life Saving Film," of which there are only three copies, has been screened to thousands of people in the Empire and proved very valuable to swimming students.

Two copies of the film are now being shown in New Zealand.

Sub-Inspector Hunt disclosed that the Royal Life Saving Society has cabled to the Society's branch in New Zealand to forward a copy to Hong Kong. The film is expected to arrive very soon.

GRAIN RACE LEADER

ARRIVES

First of this year's fleet of grain sailing ships from Australia to make port, the Finnish four-masted barquentine, the Colours of the Imperial Russian Navy, has anchored near Cook's Wharf and 6th Imiskilling wharves. She covered the voyage from port Dragon banners which were hoisted at Victoria in ninety-one days.

Now turn to swimming. There are fifty towns each of more than 25,000 people and together with a population of about 2,000,000, in which there is not one swimming bath. As yet proposals to provide baths have been received from fewer than twelve of these.

In the country as a whole, says the review, provision for women's team games is even less adequate than for men's.

Ground lost to building recently in six towns in the West Riding of Yorkshire contained 130 football pitches. In 1938 the Government paid out £1,217,742 toward new schemes.

There came another report—from King George's Jubilee Trust Fund. They have completed their three-year plan for giving $100,000 a year to youth organisations.

SMUGGLERS HAVE THEIR OWN "TUBE" RAILWAY

Police discovered in a French chateau at Vieux-Condé, near the Belgian frontier, an up-to-date smuggling and espionage organisation, which included even a steam train to carry the goods under the border—almost exactly under the Customs house itself.

This was managed by an underground passage, leading from the chateau to a house on Belgian territory, and equipped with electric light and rails.

The owner of the chateau and two of his friends have been arrested.

CHILDREN GO WOOL-GATHERING

Boys and girls at Wilstone Elementary School, Hertfordshire, are going wool-gathering—with their teachers' permission. They collect sheep's wool from barbed wire fences, fields and hedges. Then in school classrooms they wash, dye and weave it. Dyes have been made by the children from local plants and tree-barks, making in all a new village industry.

OLDEST SERVING COLOURS LAID UP

Colours presented to the 1st Battalion Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers seventy years ago by the then Commander of Enniskilling—now the oldest serving Colours in the British Army—which were flown from India, were received back from the regiment by the present Lady Enniskilling. She presented them to the Bishop of Clogher in Enniskilling Cathedral to be placed in the Colours of the Inniskilling Fusiliers. The Colours of the Inniskilling Fusiliers were hoisted at Victoria in ninety-one days.

ROSE'S LIME JUICE—THE WISE MAN'S NIGHTCAP

A VILLAGE WITH

It is not a showplace, nor a organiser of excursions has given it the embarrassing label of Beauty Spot and arranged for motor-coaches to unload. It is, indeed, not noticeably beautiful, if by that is meant striking to the eye or conventionally picturesque. It is a grey stone village—not a brick to be seen—built on a ridge of Midland country which is for the greater part of the year as grey as it is now green. The road through it is one of the ancient ridgeways of England; farther on it leads past a midget Stonehenge with a megalithic circle and a long barrow; these imply the existence of the track for nearly four thousand years, and there has probably been a village or settlement of some kind there during all that period.

NO AMBITION

The present buildings date, at a guess, from 1600 to 1930. The latter year is represented by the inevitable Council Houses. Since we cannot nowadays in England contrive or afford to work the stone a foot or so beneath us, the stone which in so many shires our fathers proved to be the fittest and comeliest of all housing stuff, the council had to choose something else, and mercifully they used a greyish rough-cast and grey tiles for the coverlet of the new cottage: so they sink, in a mannerly way, into the general tint and pattern of that hamlet on the hillside.

The village evidently has no ambition to be visited. The inn, which has not been bullied by the brewers of beer into boycotting the excellent and local drink of draught cider, was shut, although permitted hours had arrived. The innkeeper, a suitably grey man, who had had the house, I was told, a mere forty-six years, was putting the interests of hungry pigs and chickens before those of thirsty humans. Minutes do not matter hereabouts. Though the village was fairly large and ranged the ridgeway for some distance, there was not visible a single house or cottage which made the usual brief, brusque summons to partake of TEAS. There was not one of those now so common standardised signs which announce a brand of bread or cake or tea; no placard bedizened the village shop; there was not even a petrol pump. Yet, only a mile or two away, with no village between, was a megalithic monument which draws a number of sightseers.

Obviously, then, it was a village of no commercial enterprise. Equally, it was a village of no blemish. If it had had the richness or mellowness of the Cotswold villages not so far away it would have had Beauty Spot status forced upon it: its merit is a rather stark simplicity, a negative good taste. It must have been built by comparatively poor men who had no money to elaborate another Broadway or Chipping Campden. So it rides the surging ridgeland and behaves as to its station born, which is a great virtue in villages. To one thinking of a proper word for so proper a place there occurred a quite new adjective for a very old thing. The village is streamlined. It flows with its site; it is a crest of stone upon a wave of land. This modern and modish epithet "streamlined," which was early applied to the bodies of motor-cars, has now been submitted to the usual overwork and attached by the glib, ingenious salesmen to every article of women's wardrobe from a hat to a shoe. Gents' sporting outfits attract it also. The more demonstrative haberdashers would send us streamlined to the first tee.

NO CAUSE FOR WRATH

It was odd, therefore, to discover that the word most dear to advertisers perfectly suited a place in which no single sort of advertisement appeared. The village did indeed resemble a stream of stone upon a stream of land. In a great stone cart-house stood the farmers' ancient wagons, a perfection of streamlined carpentry. The shafts were shaped to the loveliest curving rhythm, and the wooden waves of the bodies mounted to the drivers' seats with the marine grace of a well-graven prow. Presumably nobody in the village regards those wagons as remarkable. The people have been well used to such elegance. They have not just recently discovered the merits of this streamlining trick. The makers of long barrows knew all about it four thousand years ago. Those grassy tombs of Preston, and Lancaster passes 755 roadside advertisements. These include:

103 large wooden hoardings carrying several advertisements; 531 are large advertisements on gable-ends. The remainder are field signs, advertisements on bridges, roofs, &c. Small advertisements and those dealing with trade carried on at the premises are not included.
The C.P.R.E. has a practical and detailed policy for public control in order to restore as far as may be the village without a blemish and the field unfouled.

IN ITS RIGHT PLACE

But that, unfortunately, takes time as well as trouble. Surely we ourselves, without forming any further leagues or councils, can take direct action against the blemish-makers and spoilers of the scene. We can make a firm resolve never to buy anything offensively advertised. So to decide is not to be the enemy of trade or of sensible publicity for salesmanship. There are plenty of proper places and proper means for such announcement and such advocacy. Advertising can be ornamental and amusing as well as informative, in its right place and its right manner. But where it is outrageous and abominable, where it blemishes a whole village and outrages a landscape, we can surely do rather more than merely cease to patronise the offending firm. We can, at small expense and trouble, notify the firm that we are thus refusing to buy its wares, and tell them why. A single postcard might not move any sinner against scenery to repentance. But what if a thousand are tumbled simultaneously on the managerial desk?

It was just after leaving the ridge-way stones, ancient and modern, that I found on my table the Lancashire booklet about posters and the public. Now I have written my first protesting postcard to one of the offending firms: it is a tiny dart, but, with reinforcement, it might help to prick the conscience of a sausage-king. No great labour was involved. But surely we owe a penny stamp now and then as thanks for a fine sight. When we have met a village without blemish we may be the more disposed to pluck the sleeve or catch the ear of those whose thoughtlessness puts blemish on the land.

PETROL COSTS DOWN

VAUXHALL engines get 20% more power out of every drop of petrol used. That is why recent R.A.C. official trials over 1000 miles of public roads, produced these extraordinary results:-

28 m.p.g.	22.48 m.p.g.
14.7 m.p.g.	30.31 m.p.g.
10.5 m.p.g.	43.4 m.p.g.

Crimping these figures with those obtainable on cars of similar power and then compare general performance. We will provide an adequate trial run on any Vauxhall model and prove its petrol economy.

Make The Most Of Your Eye Beauty For Gala Occasions

Numerous are the women who could make their eyes more compelling if they know how to apply make-up cleverly. Many make the mistake of destorying their natural eye beauty by using too much eye make-up, and at the wrong times.

About the only eye glamour permitted in the daytime is a light touch of lash darkening, a feather line of brow pencil and a bit of colourless lid sheen. Of course, for "pink tea parties" and late cocktail dates, a woman may use an eye shadow which harmonizes with the colour of her eyes. But that is all. Other pencil lines and roug-ings should be reserved for those nights when you truly dress up for an important party.

HOW TO GO ABOUT IT

The first step in using eye-shadow is to select a shade which blends with the colour of your eyes. Here are some general rules: For blue eyes use blue iridescent eye-shadow; hazel eyes use blue-green; brown eyes use blue-green; black eyes use blue-violet; green eyes use green of muted tone.

A prominent Fifth Avenue salon also presents these rules in applying the shadow:

For eyes too close together, carry the shadow out toward the temples—omit inner corners of eyes.

To make the eyes seem longer and more languorous, concentrate your eyeshadow near the lashes, blending very lightly over the rest of the eyelid. Carry off to a thin edge before reaching the eyebrows. Blend out beyond the corners of the eyes to give the eye length.

For eyes too far apart, blend eye-shadow from the inner corner near nose, carrying it only part way across the lid.

For deep-set eyes, put eyeshadow quite high, near eyebrows—soft colour such as violet applied near the brows.

Bulging eyes require eyeshadow very near lashes, and sometimes a tiny touch of a different colour near the eyebrows and toward the temple.

Drooping eyelids are helped by applying eyeshadow along the lashes and blended upward in centre of lid toward eyebrows and out beyond line of eye to meet and of eyebrow. This makes the eyes larger and wider.

Ice Cream For Home Cooks

Now that the refrigerator is becoming an indispensable part of the modern kitchen, more and more home cooks are each year making their own ice cream.

The choice of a recipe varies considerably. An economical ice cream may be desired, in which case cornflour and milk, condensed milk or tinned cream may be used. Many households, however, favour the richer, more expensive type of ice cream made with pure or emulsified cream.

A good standard recipe for the latter kind is the following.

Bring to the boil 2oz castor sugar and 1 gill milk. Stir occasionally to prevent the sugar caking. Allow to cool. Separate an egg; beat the yolk. Add it, with one teaspoonful vanilla essence, to the milk and sugar. Mix well. Bring nearly to the boil two or three times, and then allow to cool a little.

Meanwhile whisk the white of the egg stiff; pour the custard over it, and beat all well together. Whip 1 pint cream and stir it into the mixture. Pour in the refrigerator tray and freeze.

POINTS TO REMEMBER

(a) The egg will set if added to the mixture before the latter has cooled. This is what happens when

HOW IS YOUR VEGETABLE GARDEN GETTING ALONG?

What The Stars Foretell

By MARY BLAKE

You might find it a waste of energy to try to force anyone into doing anything that they are disinclined to do. This is a day conducive to sudden change of moods, so be preparing to adjust your conversation to fit the humour of the person with whom you are conversing. The average person is apt to prefer light talk to serious conversations. Do not be unresponsive to friendly suggestions, for some might be instrumental in making you very happy. Be sure to set no store by idle gossip. Much of it is likely to have no foundation. Ridicule will be one of the day's most dangerous weapons; so do not resort to it under any circumstances. There will be plenty of material for thought but it will require a very discriminating person to sort out the worthless from the good. Married and engaged couples and the love-smitten must be slow in condemning or passing judgment on anything said or done, simply because it does not meet with their approval.

If a woman and July 10 is your birthday, you probably can work much better alone than with a partner. Your ideas, although logical, might be very original and radical. You have, very likely, remarkable persuasive powers. You are apparently seldom ambiguous, your statements as a rule being sharp-cut and explicit. Your kindness ought to win you many admiring friends, and a reputation for always being ready to lend a helping hand. Through educational, literary, musical, dietetical or dramatic work you might find a career that will make you successful financially. If your marriage is the result of true love, it ought to be a fortunate and happy one.

The child born on July 10 is apt to combine the outstanding characteristics of both parents. If given the chance to demonstrate its ability, this youngster has a most promising future.

Sunburn Season Is Here

Sunshine is composed of three kinds of rays—(1) the infra-red or thermal rays, which furnish heat, (2) the visible or chromatic rays, which provide light, and (3) the ultra-violet actinic rays, which are not concerned with light or heat, but with chemical actions. It is these ultra-violet rays are both the cause of sunburn and the foundation of sun healing or heliotherapy.

Sunburn is the result of excessive exposure of the skin to ultra-violet rays. It can occur equally on dull days and bright days. Brunettes are more resistant to sunburn than blondes, because the natural pigment of their skins gives them some measure of protection. Most individuals can acquire a good protective pigment by exposing themselves to doses of sunshine, carefully graduated and spaced.

SOOTHING PROCESSES

Sunburn varies from a mere reddening and slight soreness of the skin, to severe blistering and even swelling both of the skin itself and of the subcutaneous tissues. In severe sunburn there are constitutional disturbances, headache, lassitude, malaise, and rise of temperature, the patient being definitely ill, sometimes even dangerously so.

In the mild form, where there is only reddening and slight soreness of the skin, all that is needed is a soothing application—such as calamine lotion, cold creams, or lanoline. The severe forms are best treated with preparations of tannic acid. Where there are marked constitutional symptoms rest in bed becomes a necessary measure.

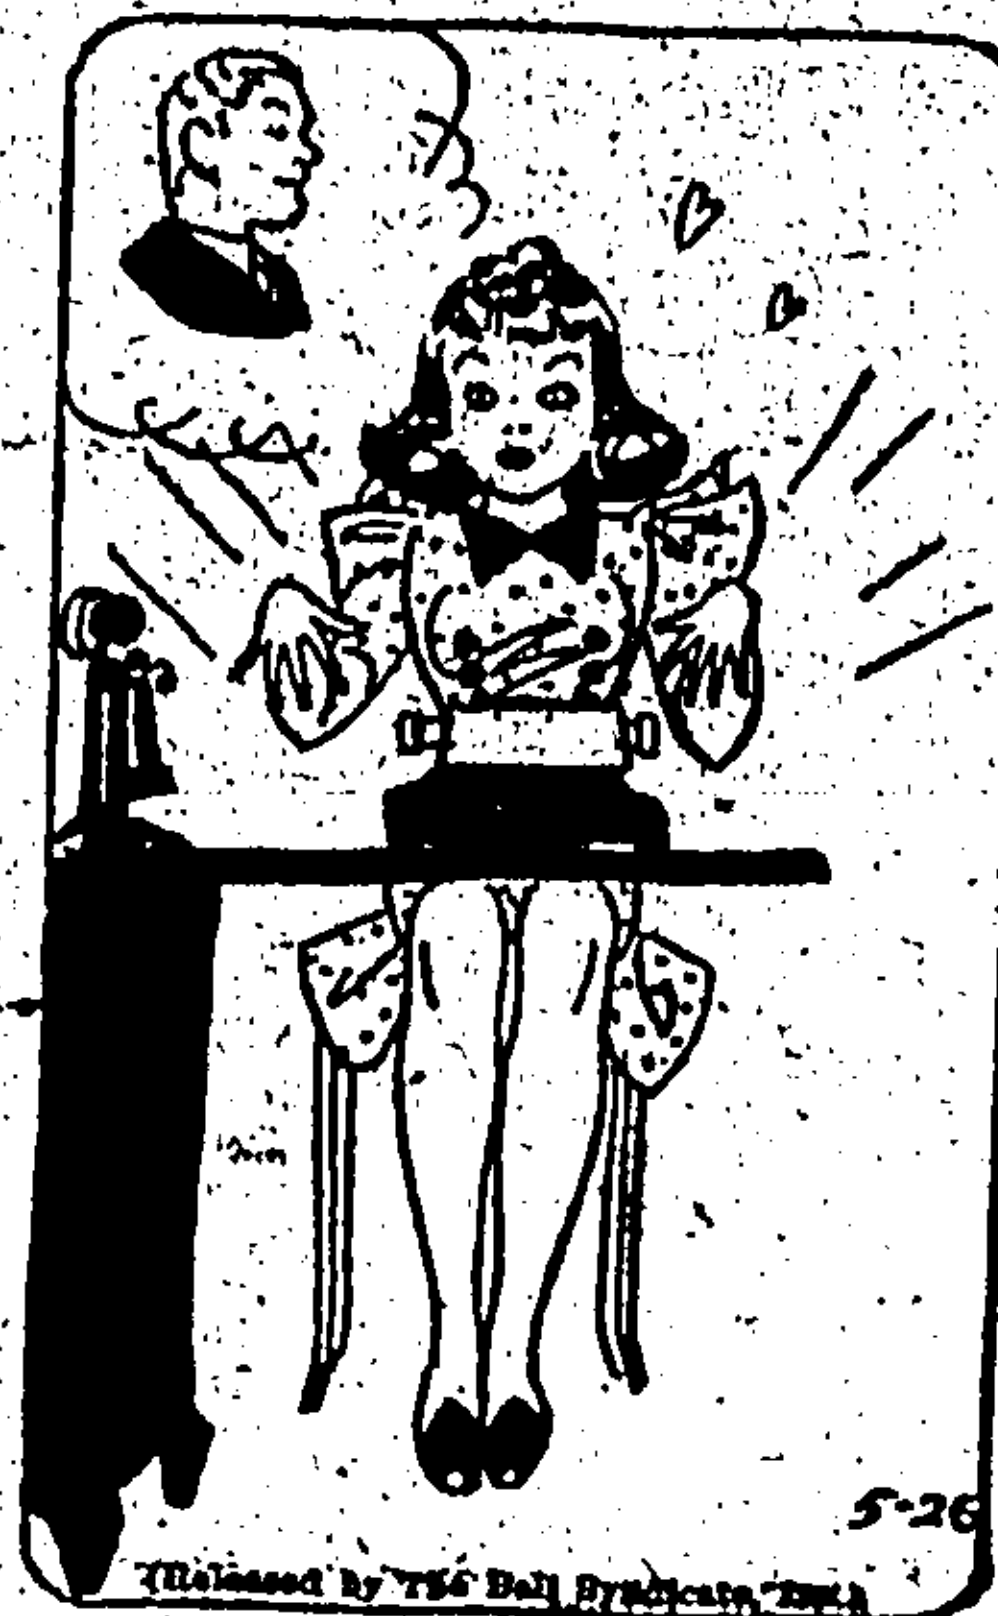

But prevention is better than cure. People who wish to use the health-giving properties of sunbaking, should have in mind the perils of overdosage; and should be content at first with suitable spaced exposures of 22-30 minutes.

LEG EXERCISES

If your sun-tanned legs are to look their best you had better start exercising them right away, because exercises take time to do their good work.

An easy exercise to keep the legs good-looking is done by sitting on the floor with legs stretched straight in front of you. Bend forward, keeping the knees as flat as possible, and take each toe separately between thumb and forefinger and stretch back towards you. Exercise No. 2. The same position. Bend forward, touching the

Cleaning Pewter Old and New

Old pewter, which is a particularly soft alloy, should be cleaned carefully, so that the surface is not scratched. The article should be washed in warm, soapy water and the inaccessible corners, such as the handle joinings, should be scrubbed with a small, soft brush. (An old toothbrush will be found suitable for this purpose.) Dry thoroughly and polish briskly with a soft cloth such as flannel or velvet. No other cleaning agent should be used, as old pewter should have a dull finish. Stains may be removed by rubbing gently with a cloth which has been dipped in oil and powdered rottenstone.

Modern pewter, which has a bright finish, may be successfully cleaned with finely powdered whitening applied with a damp cloth. Allow the whitening to dry, and polish it off with a piece of flannel or velvet and a soft brush where necessary. Metal polish should never be used for cleaning either old or modern pewter.

A Button-Front Casual Frock

A dress like this is such a comfort during hot weather. It always looks tailored and fresh, and it's so easy to put on and wear—no fussiness, nothing to get crushed and mussed. You can brighten and vary the plain, cool v-neckline with smart sports jewellery. The flaring skirt is slim at the hips. Darts on the shoulders and above the waistline give perfect fit, and becoming softness to the bodice.

This dress is equally smart in flat crepe, silk print, and in such street cottons as linen, pique and gingham. It's such a satisfactory style for runabout and office wear that you'll enjoy having more than one version of it.

Gland Discovery Restores Youth In 24 Hours

Sufferers from loss of vigour, nervousness, weak body, impure blood, failing memory, and who are old and worn out before their time will be delighted to learn of a new gland discovery by an American Doctor. Ice Cream For Home Cooks pieces of egg are found in the ice cream.

(b) The ice cream should be stirred at intervals of half an hour during the freezing process. This prevents particles of ice forming and making a hard uneven ice cream.

(c) If emulsified cream is used, it should be stood in the refrigerator for an hour or two before the ice cream is made.

Several varieties of ice cream can be made with this recipe by varying the flavouring. Here are some suggestions:

BLACKCURRANT: 1 gill blackcurrant juice, ¼ lb blackcurrants.

GINGER: 1 gill ginger syrup, 1½ oz preserved ginger.

MINT: Use mint flavouring. Colour pale green.

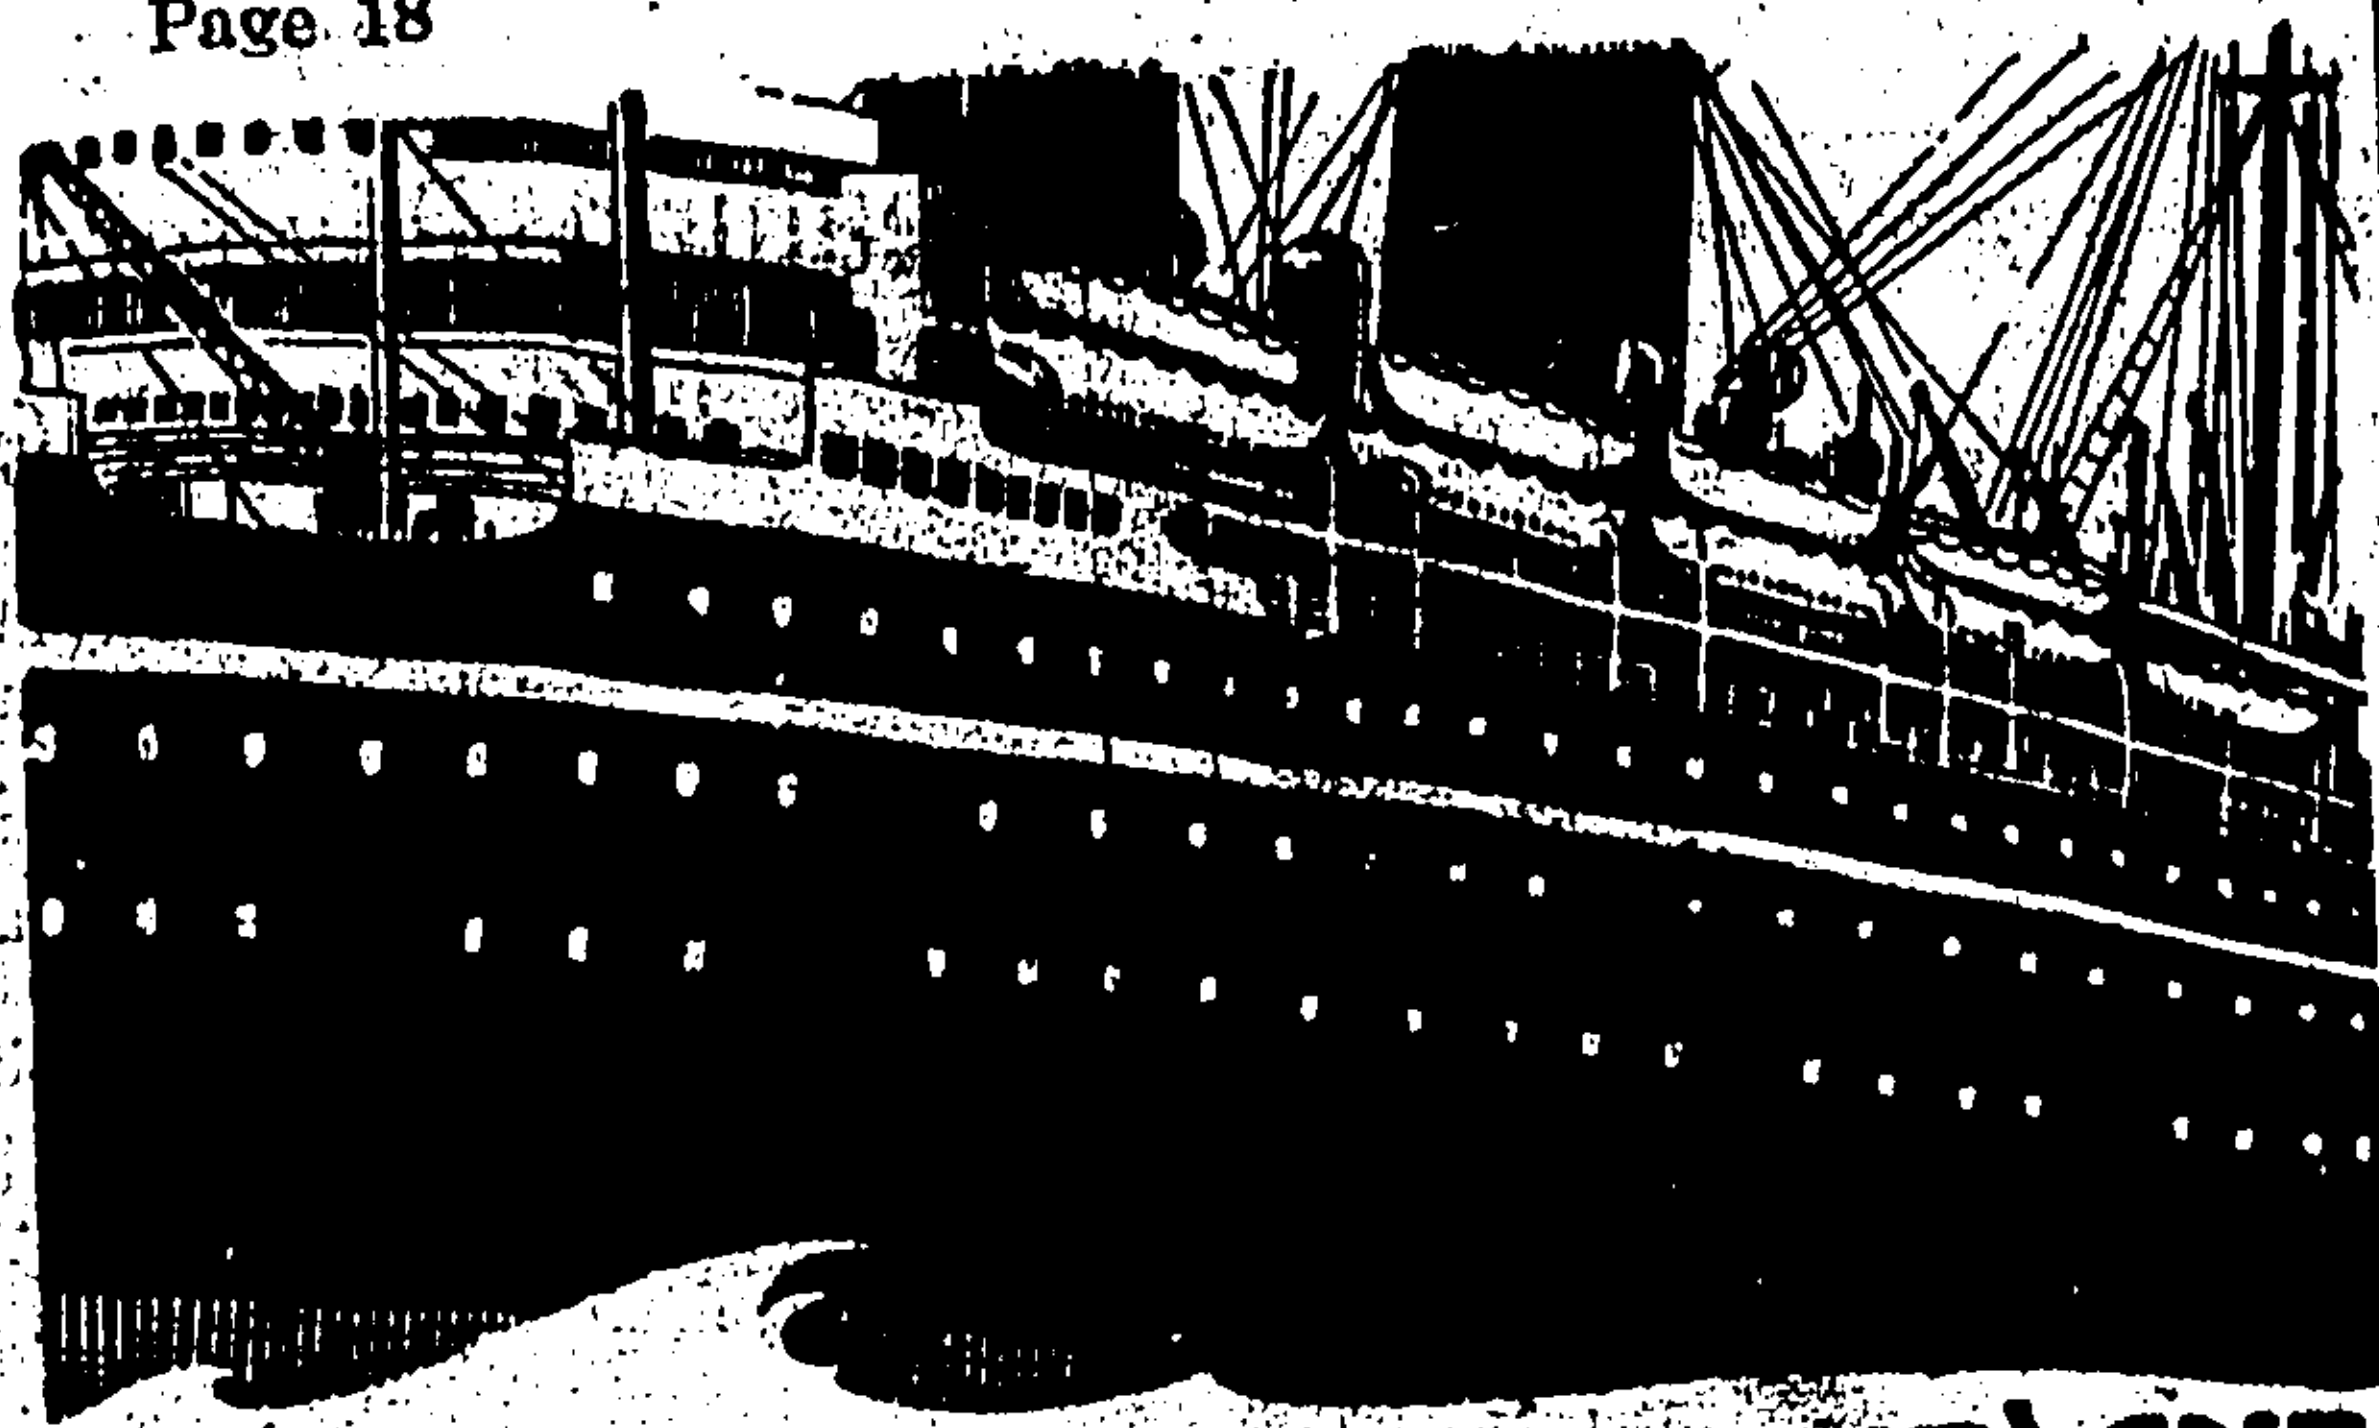

NUT: Add 1 oz chopped nuts.

ORANGE: Grate rinds of 2 oranges, squeeze the juice.

STRAWBERRY: 1 gill strawberry juice, ¼ lb strawberries.

PARACHUTISTS JUMP 27,000 FEET

The Moscow radio announces that seven Soviet Army parachutists have jumped from a height of more than 27,000ft.

Doctors rushed to their help when they reached the ground, but found them "in good condition."

These seven parachutists seem to belong to a group of 27 men who jumped from 17,000ft the previous day without oxygen. Whether oxygen was used on the second occasion is not mentioned.

REAL-LIFE STORIES BY DETECTIVES

Real-life detective stories, told by famous Scotland Yard officers, may be adopted as part of the regular training of members of the Special Constabulary and Police War Reserve.

Recently, as an experiment, Det. Supt. Percy Worth, one of Scotland Yard's Big Five, gave a lecture on the Cheltenham torso crime to 300 members of "E" Division Special Constabulary and Police War Reserve.

Supt. Worth was a Chief Inspector when he was sent to Cheltenham to investigate the mystery of a man's unclothed torso found on February 3, 1938, in the River Severn, near Haw Bridge.

The body was never identified, an open verdict was returned at the inquest, and the mystery of how the torso came to be in the river was never solved.

Supt. Worth, describing his experiences, used a detective inspector as a model to indicate the various bruises found on the body. Photographs taken by Scotland Yard photographers and illustrating every aspect of the crime were shown to the special constables.

HITLER'S COPYRIGHT IN AMERICA

Upheld By Court

Herr Hitler's American copyright for "Mein Kampf" has been upheld in a decision by the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

The court's ruling is that whether or not the Fuehrer was a "man without a country" when he obtained the copyright, he is fully entitled to the protection of the American courts.

A temporary injunction has been granted to the publishing firm of Houghton Mifflin to restrain another publisher, Stackpole and Sons from selling an unauthorised edition now competing in the American market with the authorised text.

KING CAROL HONOURS LORD SOMERS

King Carol of Rumania has conferred on Lord Somers, Deputy Chief Scout, and Lady Somers, who are in Bucharest for the Youth Day celebrations, the Order of Cultural Merit.

Heads of foreign missions have received the same decoration, including Prince Paul, the Crown Prince of Greece, Herr Baldur von Schirach, the head of the Hitler Youth Movement, and Signor Starace, the secretary of the Italian Fascist party.—Reuter.

"I Bless The Day I Started Taking
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

So writes Mrs. H. Millinson, of 61, Howard Street, Mansfield, England. "I was a victim of chronic anaemia, I was pale and listless, could not eat and lost much weight. I felt too weak to work, or even to walk; every step seemed an effort. I was terribly depressed and lost interest in everything although I tried all kinds of remedies. Then I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to try them. I derived benefit from the very first bottle; my appetite improved, I gained strength, and felt more energetic and cheerful. From then onward I never looked back, and now I am quite my old self. Life is again a pleasure, and I bless the day I started taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

For nervous troubles, indigestion, poor appetite, premature ageing, palpitation, weakness after fevers, and other debilitating illnesses, rheumatism, the health irregularities common to women, or other ailments caused by impoverished blood, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an invaluable health restorative for both sexes of all ages.

The new rich red blood which these pills create brings new health, new strength and new vitality. Begin your cure to-day. All chemists sell them.

ENCORES IN MUSIC FILMS

American Suggestion

The possibility of interrupting film displays to give encores of popular scenes is being considered as a result of experiences with the film version of "The Mikado" in Canada. Prolonged cheers have greeted some of the most famous songs.

The engineers of Universal Pictures Corporation suggest the employment of a spare projector, with the aid of which selected passages could be repeated. The main projector would afterwards resume at the point where it was stopped.

The principal objection appears to be that such a practice would upset the time-tables of many cinemas.

PRINCE KILLED IN MOTOR CRASH

Training For Race

Prince Rudolf von Windisch-Graetz, son of Prince Otto Windisch-Graetz, and a grandson of the Emperor Francis Joseph, was killed on the Kahlenberg mountain overlooking Vienna, while training on his motor-cycle for a race in which he was to have taken part.

He collided with another motorcyclist, and was thrown on his head. He died on the way to hospital.

Prince Rudolf was born in 1912, and was well known as a motor-cycle racing amateur. He was seriously injured in a crash in 1933.

The Quality

Headley Completes 100 In Each Innings

West Indies Wickets Go, England Want 99

(EXCLUSIVE TO "CHINA MAIL")

C. B. Fry, internationally-known authority on cricket, is writing a series of commentaries on the three Test matches between England and West Indies, and also the Gentlemen v Players match, exclusively for the "China Mail."

C. B. FRY SAYS -

POSITION OF THE GAME AT CLOSE OF PLAY ON THE SECOND DAY WAS:-
WEST INDIES-277
ENGLAND-404 for 5

Lord's, June 27.

THE idea of declaring with only 127 runs in the bag is that the pitch at Lord's improves during the day and that the best chance of quick wickets occurs in the first hour or so.

In any case it is a moot point whether in a three-day match the earliest possible declaration does not pay. It is the more sporting course.

The wicket is faster to-day and the sun is shining. West Indies can yet draw this match with much honour. It may be an exciting finish against time. If so it happens, then cheers for three-day cricket.

In the sunshine William Bowes starts one end to R. S. Grant — his usual sub-speed first over.

No event: and Copson bowls from the Nursery end to J. B. Stollmeyer. The first ten overs will be critical for our chances.

One For Nought

Behold our captain has been right about the wicket, Copson's fourth ball kicks high, and ricochets off Stollmeyer's bat to Verity at backward point. Not very good luck, except for us. One for nought.

So now George Headley has the task of saving his side. Of this he is well capable; but he will need to watch out for the kicking ball, lest he cock one up to the short legs.

The first half-hour sees Grant playing confidently in his sound Public School style.

Several proper off-drives with the left elbow well forward. Headley, after a whack on the thigh from Copson, is settling down.

The upshot, after 40 minutes, is Wright for Copson. Grant makes a small up-shot to slip's left hand, which slip tries with both hands and fails to grasp.

Stump Flattened

Next over Bowes flattens Grant's off stump as easily as he flattened Stollmeyer's off stump last time. The ball that comes down the hill and keeps rather low Grant played for the other ball, the one that swings away. Such are the uses of variety. Two for 42.

After 50 minutes Hammond asks Bowes if he would like a rest. Bowes says, "A couple more, Walter." Wright is keeping a neat length, and is turning the ball. Wise youth, he is not forcing his pace as in the first innings. Bowling better. If he does not watch it, Sealey will cock him up to one of the "sillies." So ends the first hour.

The first 50 runs were after an hour, Sealey and Headley are both batting with unruffled sombre skill; Sealey shows no trace of any alleged temperament. Headley, masterly, cool, reproduces Walter Hammond's mow to leg with perfect precision.

Bowes has had his couple more and gives place to Copson, this time from the Pavilion end. But from this end Copson's length seems a trifle short. The short good length will not worry brother Headley, the batsman.

Brother Verity the bowler, for Wright. And Verity's good first over is troublesome to Sealey, whose cap is now pendantly askew over the left eye.

No More Bumpers

Note that Sealey is reckoned their second best bat; so the fortune of this partnership may determine the match.

Bowes again from the old end. But the turf by now has sowed its wild oats. No more bumpers. Seventy are on the board, and Sealey and Headley at the wicket.

Bowes bowled a slow would-be leg break, and Sealey cracked it like a nut to the Tavern. A good place for it. It counted six and a half please miss. The hundred is up, both batsmen going well, Headley verging on his half-century.

Sealey, who has been wise hitherto, snatches his cut at a straight rising ball from Copson, and is caught at the wicket. A neat catch, rather wide. Three for 106.

A minute later, with Weekes as his new partner, Headley achieves his half-century.

He looks like a second. No ball yet has beaten him, and he has stopped some good uns with his quick, sure blade.

Events Are Scarce

Resumption of hostilities on the Bowes-Copson line. Enemy sedentary. Verity sedentary on one knee four yards from Weekes at point. Events otherwise scarce.

Presently the West Indies champion flicks a high riser from Bowes, off the blunt of his nose to the square leg boundary—not often seen since Ranji's time.

After half an hour a double change of bowling to Wright and Verity. Same old game. Two fastish bowlers on together; then ditto two slowish. That is what a batsman likes. Of course, nowadays we study the age of the ball.

Headley is not out 80 in a total of 154 for three. Nothing to record except batting and bowling, till suddenly Weekes is caught at the wicket off Verity. He has collected 16 runs in 70 minutes, and has helped his side. 154 for four.

Much depends now as usual on Constantine. Will he function?

For the moment he functions with a cow shot off a long hop from Wright, but he does not like Wright's twisters. Learie prefers less time to think.

and future; a method less common with batsmen than you would suppose. His motto is "quick but sure."

Just when Adolf is on the edge of his second hundred Learie makes quite a good cut off Verity and is magically caught at slip by Hammond.

Five out for 19 Cantab Cameron to the rescue and no bad batsman either at a pinch, it is said.

Then Adolf makes no mistake and he has culled the rare flower of two centuries in a Test.

Cantab Cameron does not oblige, he at once cocks a return to Wright. Total: 199 for six, and the match about won.

One run later Adolf hard drove a ball from Wright into Hutton's chest at silly mid-off. A good catch. Had Adolf not driven off his back foot, but off his front foot, he would have hit a boundary.

His innings was an epitome of undivided attention to detail, and of unhurried competence. A great performance by a great batsman.

Martindale on-drives Wright weightily. Bill Bowes makes quite some ground to hold a hot catch in his outstretched right hand. Eight are gone for 204. As a reward Bill Bowes is put on to bowl at the tailenders.

99 To Win

Hylton is caught low down by Hardstaff at cover off Copson.

Clarke lasts only two balls. A good-length ball from Copson lifts off the pitch, Clarke plays back and upwards, and the bowler follows up in time to take the catch in his right hand, knee high.

The West Indies are out for 225. We need 99 to win, and have 110 minutes to get them.

Copson has taken nine wickets in the match for 152 runs.

Hutton and Gimblett face Martindale and Hylton. Hutton pushes a nice four on the leg side in the first over. Gimblett swishes a four and an enormous six off the first two balls of the stinger's over.

At 35 the first wicket falls. Hutton plays back to Hylton and misses, the ball takes the off stump.

Very noticeable how differently the ball is travelling to-day in the outfield, from the bat. There is sunshine in the turf.

Paynter becomes Gimblett's partner. At 39, dissatisfied with the rate of scoring, Gimblett has a biff and Martindale hits the bottom of his leg stump. The point about Gimblett is that unless he misses it, he hits the ball very hard with very slight effort.

Hammond now marches out.

Within 40 of victory and an hour to go, Hammond and Paynter both clump, confidently.

(COPYRIGHT)

I do not think that George A. Headley (did you know his second name is Adolf) ever contemplates the possibility of getting out. He plays one ball at a time, neglecting all others, past

HAMMOND (30 NOT OUT).

IRON IMPACT

By BEST BALL

A comparison of this illustration showing the impact of a full iron shot is not materially different from that of a drive. Bobby Jones' body is in practically the same position in both instances. Drawn from a photograph taken by the new multiple-flash photo method the exact second of contact is revealed clearly. The weight here is largely on the left foot where it has been transferred during the downstroke. Jones' chin is still pointed back of the ball and there is a straight line extending from the tip of the iron to his left shoulder.

No part of Atlantan's power has been wasted by misjudging the moment of impact and thus having the body turn too far around to utilize all the bodily strength. One point that Jones brings out in this photograph is that of keeping the irons at a natural loft when contacting the ball. The iron is so constructed that the face of the club will raise the ball without scooping, wrist pronation or any of the various tricks which might open the club face. Let the club do its share of the job as shown above and the shots will be longer and straighter.

BIG championship fights held in small halls seating between 2000 and 5000 people, and yet bringing in "gate" receipts amounting to 1,000,000 dollars (about £200,000) are visualised by Promoter Mike Jacobs, of New York. He was commenting on the televising of fights in England, which he described as "a great stunt."

"Don't laugh", he said. "That's what may happen when television comes into its own here. Tickets for the fights in small halls will be about £200 each. Experience shows that there are enough folks who want to be seen at the ringside to grab up tickets at any price."

"That will make a million dollars or more right there. Then we can get together with the broadcasting company and arrange some kind of plan like that in England—charge each theatre for television privileges."

SPORT PARADE

"Suppose we charged a theatre £200 to receive the television broadcast like they did in England, and suppose four or five thousand theatres took it. Figure it out for yourself."

CHARLES P. DIXON, the English Davis Cup lawn tennis player, and a Wimbledon don, died recently aged 66. He captained the British Isles Davis Cup team, and figured in the Challenge round in Melbourne against Australasia in 1912, when the Cup was taken to England. It was the year in which

J. C. Parke, the Rugby international footballer, won both singles, defeating N. E. Brookes by developing special tactics, and R. Heath.

JUST to show that they are still hale and hearty in their 80's two veteran Yorkshire athletes are planning a 100 yards race which may take place on a local football ground in the near future.

The old-timers are Mr. Charles Earnshaw, aged 83, of Hartshead Moor, and Mr. Christopher Wilcock, aged 81, of Cowling, near Keighley. The former, who was in business for 30 years at Blackpool, acted as a pacemaker in his younger days for many famous runners.

The proposed race is the outcome of Mr. Earnshaw's challenge to any man his own age to a 100 yards race, a wrestling match, a billiards game, or a jump over a five-barred gate providing it is laid flat on the ground.

THE match between H. E. O. Jordan and R. Fullerton, of the Hawkes Bay Lawn Tennis Club, for the final of the men's championship singles, must go close to constituting a record for marathon tennis.

The game occupied five and a quarter hours, commencing at 10.35 a.m., and not concluding until 3.50 p.m. Fullerton was the ultimate victor, the set scores being: 4-6, 12-10, 6-4, 5-7, and 8-6.

We are indebted to B. A. Russell of Ilion, N.Y., for the following hand. In a recent seven-table

High Card Values of the Four Aces System
ACE 3
QUEEN 1
TOTAL VALUE OF HAND 10

Duplicate game it was played at two or three spades and every Declarer made four while, strangely enough, reasonable good defence would have held the hand to three.
Some West players opened with one diamond, their partners responded a heart, then South bid a spade, which North eventually raised. In other cases after three passes South opened the bidding with one spade. At those tables where there was the East and West bidding West, for some reason opened his forth-best diamond, and this lead allowed Declarer to hold himself to but one diamond loser.

Actually, with the West hand the four-spot of clubs is a better opening, since we consider it very inadvisable to lead away from Ace-Jack against a suit contract. But at those tables where the diamond was not opened, it seems that Declarer, after drawing trumps, played a low diamond toward dummy.

whereupon in each instance West hopped right up with the Ace, once more allowing Declarer to restrict his diamond losers to one.

ANSWER: Your correct opening lead is the King of diamonds. With four trumps you want to establish your own suit and hope that you will be able to shorten Declarer so that eventually you will have a long trump.
Score 100% for King of diamonds; 80% for a low spade, 20% for seven of hearts (since you have four trumps, you are not anxious to do any early ruffing and your heart opening might prejudice some tenace position in your partner's hand in the quite likely event that Declarer holds a heart honour.)

What's On At the Cinemas

AT THE STAR—"Blind Alibi". A romance, that blossoms between a beautiful art expert and a sculptor pretending blindness. With Richard Dix, Whitney Bourne, Eduardo Ciannelli, Frances Mercer, Paul Guilfoyle and Richard Lane.

AT MAJESTIC—"Hold That Kiss." Comedy jostles romance, when a shop-girl on holiday and a travel agency clerk mistake each other for "high society" and put up a bluff that lands them in all manner of laughable mishaps before they reach the altar. With Maureen O'Sullivan, Dennis O'Keefe and Mickey Rooney.

AT THE ORIENTAL—"Topper Takes A Trip." The disembodied dame who caused so much hilarity in "Topper", returns to earth once more to land luckless Roland Young in a great deal more trouble before finally restoring him to the arms of Mrs. Topper. With Constance Bennett, Roland Young, Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Verree Teasdale and Franklin Pangborn.

AT THE KING'S—"Made For Each Other." Powerful and intensely human story of a young wife who fights against overwhelming odds for marital happiness and wins her battle just when it seems that even Fate is against her. With Carol Lombard, James Stewart, Charles Coburn, Lucille Watson, Eddie Quillan, Harry Davenport, Olin Howland and Alma Kruger.

AT THE QUEEN'S—"The Flying Irishman." With Douglas Corrigan, Paul Kelly, Robert Armstrong and Eddie Quillan. The life story of the man who flew from America to Ireland by mistake.

AT THE CATHAY—"Boys Town." Human events and actual happenings in a town entirely populated by boys! Besides portraying the realization of a great and good man's dream, these action-cramped reels bring you the greatest emotional thrill of the year. With Spencer Tracy, Mickey Rooney, Henry Hull, Leslie Fenton, Gene Reynolds and Edward Norris.

AT THE ALHAMBRA—"Man's Heritage." Action-packed tale of life at an American military academy, interwoven with a father and son drama that will bring a lump to your throat. With Jackie Cooper, Freddie Bartholomew, Tim Holt, Henry Hull, Andy Devine and Gene Reynolds.

Wang Decides To Throw In Lot With Japan

Shanghai, To-day.

The creation of a new pro-Japanese Central Chinese Government headed by Wang Ching-wei, former deputy leader of the Kuomintang Party, has been definitely decided upon, quarters close to Wang Ching-wei declare.

According to these quarters, representatives of the Nanking and Peiping Governments have left for Tsingtao to attend a conference which will begin to-day and which will deal with technical questions connected with the creation of a new Central Government.

Wang Ching-wei supporters do not believe, however, that the establishment of the new Government will be proclaimed at Tsingtao conference.

The Tsingtao conference, they declare, will merely appoint a committee which will be commissioned with preparations for the creation of the new Government.

RESERVE ABANDONED

That Wang's plans for establishment of a Central Government have been brought nearer to realisation, is evident also from the fact that Wang Ching-wei himself has now abandoned his previous reserve.

Wang yesterday published a statement on Sino-Japanese relations and last evening discussed the same subject in a broadcast.

To-day, the pro-Wang Ching-wei paper, "Chung Hua Jih Pao" published its first issue in Shanghai.

Wang's statement shows that he wants China to co-operate closely with Japan and be co-ordinated in military and other respects completely to the policy of Japan, which must in the view of Wang Ching-wei compulsorily lead to endangering the interests and privileges of other countries.—Trans-Ocean.
